[1679.]

A Geographical Deſcription OF THE WORLD.

The World (by which according to the more common acceptation of the Word, in this place we mean only the Globe of the Earth and Sea) is divided into four parts, Europe, Aſia, Africa, and America: Of each of which ſeverally, and the reſpective Countries therein, we ſhall here give you a brief Deſcription. And firſt,

Of EUROPE.

EUrope, (ſo called from Europa, Daughter of Agenor, King of the Phenecians, brought hither (as the Poets feign) by Jupiter in the ſhape of a Bull; but as Hiſtorians Record, by a Cretan Captain, named Taurus, (which gave occasion to that Fable.) Though it be the least of the four grand Divisions of the Earth, is yet of most Renown. 1. For the Temperature of the Air. 2. Fertility of the Soil. 3. The Flourishing of Arts and Sciences. And lastly, For the Purity and Sincerity of the Christian Faith.

Its Kingdoms and principal Regions, are as follow.

1. GREAT BRITAIN and IRELAND.

We rank these in the first place, not only in regard they owe Obedience to the Scepter of our Gracious Sovereign; but also for that, either Salubrity of Air, plenty of all things necessary to humane Life, or other Advantages, they need not give place to any Contry in the Universe.

Great Britain, contains England, Scotland, and Wales, making the most famous Island in the whole World. It was antiently called called Albion, ab Albis Rupibus, from the white Rocks appearing on the South Coast towards France, from whence it was first discovered. Afterwards Britain, some say from Brutus of the Trojan Race, who first settled a Government here; or, as others will have it, from the Greek Word Prutania, signifying Metals, because of the great quantity of Brass, Tinn, Lead, Iron, &c. that is found here. The whole length from the Strathy-Head in Scotland, to the Lizard-Point in Cornwall is counted 624 Miles; and the breadth from the Lands-end in Cornwal to the Isle of Tenet in East Kent, 340.

England (a Name taken from the Angli, a People that came in with the Saxons, and not chang'd by the Danish or Norman Conquerors) is the chief part of the Island, being divided into 39 Counties, and 22 Bishopricks, is accounted in length 386 Miles, in breadth 279, and the Circumference 1532. The Soil is very fertile and plentiful, and several of its chief Commodities and Excellencies are expressed in this Verse.

Anglia, Mons, Pons, Fons, Ecclesia, Femina, Lana.

England is stor'd with Bridges, Hills, and Wooll,
With Churches, Wells, and Women beautiful.

Its first known Inhabitants were the Britains, who being conquered by the Romans, and afterwards over-run by the Saxons, were forced to retire into that Corner of the Kingdom called Wales, where their Posterity to this day inhabit; being a Province, divided into 13 Counties, and 4 Bishopricks: The eldest Son of our English Kings being always entituled Prince of Wales. The before mentioned Saxons, divided the whole Realm into 7 Kingdoms, and were much oppressed for a long time by the Danes, but at last being united under one King, were subdued by the Normans under William the Conquerer, whose Successors continue to this Day.

Scotland, is the Northern part of Britain, longer than England, but not so broad, much colder, colder, and leſs fruitful. The whole containing 25 Shires, is divided into the Low-Lands, which ſpeak a kind of barbarous Engliſh, and the High Lands, whoſe Language is very near the ſame with Iriſh. This Realm upon ſucceſſion of King James to the Engliſh Crown, became united to that Scepter, and are jointly ſtiled Great Britain. Its chief Commoditi s are courſe Clothes, Freezes, Fiſh, Hides, Lead Ore, &c. Here are four Univerſities: Edinburg, Glaſco, St. Andrews, and Aberdeen. Two Arch-Biſhops, and eleven Biſhops.

Ireland, Is the biggeſt Iſland in Europe after Britain, the Weſt of which lies towards Spain, containing in length above 300 miles, and in breadth about 110 miles. It neither breeds, nor will harbour any Venemous Creature. The Soil is very good, and by the late Induſtry of the Inhabitants (now the greateſt part Engliſh) the whole Country begins to grow Rich and Flouriſhing; as the populous and fair New Buildings at Dublin, and other places demonſtrate.

2. Of ITALY.

Italy, The moſt famous Region of Europe, very much reſembles in ſhape the Leg of a Man: a moſt pleaſant and goodly Country, commodious for Traffique, and very fertile. 'Tis bounded on the Eaſt with the Adriatick Sea, South and Weſt with the Tyrrhene Sea, and North with the Alps, being in length about 1020 miles, but in breadth not above 410 at the broadeſt.

It abounds with Corn, Wine, and Oyl; yields plenty of Almonds, Pomegranates, &c. The whole Country ſeeming but as an intire Garden. The People were antiently famous for their Valour and Prudence, and are ſtill Honourable, Courteous, Grave; and very obliging to Strangers, yet much inclined to Jealouſie, Wantonneſs, and ſharp Revenge; ſparing in Diet, but Neat; their greateſt Expences are about their Gardens. Here, about 1600 years ago the Latin Tongue flouriſhed, being vulgarly ſpoken, but afterwards by the Invaſions of the Goths, Vandals, and other barbarous Nations, the com-common Speech became mixed and degenerated which at this day we call the Italian, and yet is still a most delicate Noble and Courtly Language.

The Capital City is Rome, once Mistris of the World in Temporals, and still pretending to be so in Spirituals; In compass about 11 miles, but full of Gardens and waste Grounds, so that 'tis supposed not to contain above 200000 Souls, two parts in three of whom are Clergy-men, and Curtesans. But in the flourishing of the Roman Empire, it contained 50 miles in compass, and not fewer than three or four Millions of People, if we credit Lipsius.

After the Emperors removed their Seat to Constantinople, the Bishop of Rome taking advantage of their Absence, by pretended donation from Constantine, made himself absolute Prince of a great part of Italy, called St. Peters Patrimony, and the Lands of the Church, and the rest in time became Patronized into several petty Principalities, & States.

In the bottom of the Adriatick, now called the Gulf of Venice, stands the famous City, and Virgin Common-wealth of Venice, situate on many Islands, and the Water running through every Street, being in compass 8 miles, containing 70 Parishes, many excellent Palaces, and curious Buildings.

3. Of TURKY in EUROPE.

The Turk having now a great part of Europe under his Dominion, we thought fit to represent those several Regions together. As

1. Thrace, now called Romania; In which stands Constantinople, the Seat of the Ottoman Empire, by them alled Stamboldo, and oft-times the Port, from the largeness and conveniency of the Haven; This City is situate as if designed for Empire, overlooking Europe and Asia, & commanding the Euxine Sea, Propontis and Hellespont, being in compass about 18 miles, and supposed to contain 700000 living Souls; First taken from the Christians by Mahomet the Great, in the year 1452.

2. Greece, The Antient Mother of Philosophy and Learning, but now reduced by Turkish Slavery, to Barbarism and Ignorance; yet yet they ſtill profeſs Chriſtianity, and diſown the Supremacy of the Pope of Rome, being governed by four Patriarks, viz. 1. Of Alexandria, who preſideth over Egypt and Arabia (for the Communion of the Greek Church extends through many Regions.) 2. Jeruſalem. 3. Antioch. 4. Conſtantinople; but ſtill all pay a Tribute about 5*s.* ſterling an Head, per Annum to the Grand Seignior for liberty to exerciſe their Religion; As likewiſe do thoſe Proteſtants which dwell within his Dominions in Hungary, and thereby live much more happily than their Brethren who are under the Emperor, ſo far does Popiſh Cruelty exceed Turkiſh.

3. Moldavia, and Walachia, Two Provinces ſituate on the River Danubius, and between Tranſilvania and the Euxine, or Black Sea, the Inhabitants ſpeak a kind of barbarous Latine, but ſo corrupted that it is ſcarce to be underſtood.

4. A great part of Hungary (the reſt appertaining to the German Empire.) The People thereof are Valiant, but rude of Behaviour, they uſe the Scythian Language, but most of them also speak Latin, and for the greater part are of the Reformed Religion.

5. Candie, Of old called Crete, an Island in the Ægean Sea, being 650 miles in compass, whence formerly came all our Muscadel Wines: but it being taken some Years since from the Venetians by the Turks, who are prohibited Wine by their Alchoran, the Vines are destroyed or neglected, so that there is now none of that Wine brought over.

4. Of the EMPIRE of GERMANY.

Germany, is divided into the Higher and Lower, which latter is called Belgium, or the Netherlands.

Belgium, or the Netherlands, is bounded on the East with the River Ems, and part of High Germany; on the West with the German Sea; on the North with East-Friesland, and on the South with the Seine, Champaigne, and Lorrain. Containing in all 17 Provinces, ces: but we ſhall only ſpeak here of the ſeven United Provinces, or Dutch Commonwealth. The Names of which are, Holland, Zealand, Utrecht, Over-iſſel, Zutphen, Groningen, and Geldærland which Union was firſt made in the Year 1581, on their revolt from their Antient Sovereign the King of Spain, againſt whom by the great Aſſiſtance of the Engliſh and Princes of Orange, they waged War many Years ſo ſucceſsfully, that he was at laſt forced to treat with them as a free State. Theſe Countries are exceeding populous, and have attempted to graſp the Trade of this part of the World into their Hands, being a People very Induſtrious, Crafty, &c.

High-Germany, is bounded on the Weſt with France, and Belgium, on the North with Denmark and its Seas; on the Eaſt with Pruſſia, Poland, and Hungary and on the South with the Alpes, and Italy. It abounds with moſt things neceſſary for life. In particular, Its Commodities are Mines of Silver, and other Inferiour Metals, Wines, and freſh Fiſh, Quick-Silver, Allom, &c. The People are Honeſt, Laborious and Sincere, Sincere, ſtout Drinkers, and good Souldiers. The Women of indifferent Complexion, but ſomewhat Corpulent. As for their Diet, there is this Proverb, —The Germans have much Meat, but ſlattiſhly dreſt: The French little, but neatly cook't: The Spaniards neither one nor the other. The Title of the Father here, deſcends to all the Children; every Son of a Duke is a Duke, every Daughter a Dutcheſs. Whence comes that Italian Joque, —The Dukes and Earls of Germany; The Dons of Spain; The Mounſiers of France; The Biſhops of Italy; The Nobility of Hungary; The Lairds of Scotland The Knights of Naples; and the younger Brethren of England, all make but a poor Company. For Religion ſome are Papiſts, others Proteſtants; which latter are again divided into Lutherans and Calviniſts.

This Country is almoſt ſquare, each ſide being in length about 650 miles, and hath one Governor General, called the Emperor, a Title derived from the Antient Roman Emperors, but retains very little of that Power; For moſt of the under Princes are abſolute in their reſpective Dominions, whence this mighty Body by reaſon of various Intereſts and Differences, becomes comes nothing so formidable as it would be, if firmly united under one Sovereign Monarch.

5. Of FRANCE.

The Kingdom of France is for one intire thing, one of the most rich and absolute Monarchies of the World, being in Figure almost a Square, each side containing about 600 miles; 'tis bounded on the North with the Lower Germany, on the North-west washt with the British Ocean, on the West with the Aquitain Sea, on the South, the Pyrenean Mountains fence it from Spain; towards the East, it extends to the Mediterranean, and full East the Alps divide it from Italy.

It aboundeth with all manner of good Fruits, besides great store of Fish and Fowl. But its chiefest Commodities are four, viz. Wine, Salt, Linnen-Cloth, and Corn; the less material are VVoad for dying, Paper, Nuts, Almonds, Laces to the new Modes, &c.

The People are generally Complemental, Inconstant, and rash. Both their Gentlemen and Citizens, live more sparingly than the English: They feed most on boild or liquid quid Meats, and are very curious in Sauces.

In matters of War there is an old Comparison, that resembles the French to a Flea, quickly skipping into a Country, and as soon leaping out of it; of which late Transactions afford several Instances. Their Language is Amorous, and they leave out many Consonants in Pronunciation, occasioning this Proverb, A French-man Writes not as he Pronounces, Sings not as he Pricks, nor Speaks as he Thinks. The National Religion is Popery, yet there be many of the Reformed amongst them, whom they call Hugonots; though of late much suppressed and debarred of their antient Priviledges.

The Air in the Northern part of France, is purer than that of England, and being not so much covered with Clouds drawn out of the Sea, becomes more cold in Winter, and more hot in Summer, and less annoyed with Mists and Rain.

6. Of ſeveral Countries bordering on FRANCE.

Theſe are,

1. The Catholique Provinces, or Spaniſh Netherlands, commonly called Flanders; though that be but one of the ten Provinces; the Names of the other nine are, Limburg, Luxenburg, Brabant, the Marquiſate of the Empire, Artois, Hainault, Namurs, Weſt-Freiſland, and Mechlin. The Soil is very fruitful, and mightily peopled, but exceedingly waſted and impoveriſhed by the late Wars between the French King, and the Dutch and Spaniards.

2. La Franche Conté, or the free County, called alſo the County of Burgundy, is invironed with Champaign, Lorrain, Breſſy, and the Dutchy of Burgundy: being in length 90 miles, and in breadth 60, one of the moſt fertile Provinces in the World. The chief City is Beſançon: the next Dole, famous for the Colledg of Jeſuites there; It was under the Spaniſh Crown, but a few years ago ſuddenly ſurprized by the French.

3. Lorraine, A Principality adjoyning to that laſt mentioned, about four days Journey in length, and three in breadth. It abounds with Corn and Wine, good Horſes, plenty of Mines, and ſtore of Salt and Fiſh. The Dukes Revenue was formerly computed at 700000 Crowns per Annum; and they were wont to give for their Deviſe, an Armed Arm coming as it were from Heaven, and graſping a naked Sword, to ſhew that they were abſolute Princes, holding their Eſtate by no other Tenure, than from God and the Sword. But the French have likewiſe not long ſince violently overrun this Country, and the preſent Duke Commands the Emperors Forces, having married the Queen Dowager of Poland.

Savoy, A Dukedom compaſſed with Dauphine, Switzerland and Piedmont, which latter is for the moſt part under its Government, lying on the Italian ſide of the Alps, and being exceeding pleaſant and fruitful. The reſt of Savoy is mountainous and barren. Adjoyning hereunto on the Lake Lemane, ſtands ſtands the City of Geneva, a Common-wealth not extending eight Leagues in Circuit, but of indifferent good Trade, and well Fortified.

Switzerland, Is likewiſe a Republick, conſiſting of 13 Shires or Cantons, of which five are all Papiſts, ſix all Proteſtants, and two mixt; 'Tis thought to be the higheſt Country in Europe, and ſends forth four of the greateſt Rivers, viz. the Danubius, through Germany and Turkie Eaſt, the Rhine through Germany North, The Rhoſne through France Weſt, and Po, through Italy South. The Soil is but mean, being ſo Hilly; but the Men great Warriors, and famous for their Mercinary Valour.

7. Of SPAIN and PORTUGAL.

The moſt Weſtern Country of Europe on the main Continent is Spain, ſeparated from France on the North-Eaſt by the Pyreneam Mountains, and on the VVeſt joining to Portugal, on all other parts waſht by the Sea; its its whole Circuit being about 1900 English miles.

They are a mixt People, descended from Goths, Saracens, and Jews. From the Jews they inherit Superstition, from the Saracens Melancholly, from the Goths desire of Liberty. They are much given to Women, Vain-glorious, and Stately; very grave in their Carriage, zealous Adherers to the Church of Rome, Obedient to their Prince, true to their words, and of wonderful Patience in enduring Adversity. Their Women sober, loving to their Husbands, or Gallants, wonderful Delicate, curious in Painting and Perfuming, but by Custome forbidden to drink any Wine, at least till they are Married.

This Country yeilds Sacks, Sugars, Oyl, Metals, Liquorice, Rice, Silk, Wool, Cork, Rosin, Steel, Oranges, Lemons, Raisins, &c. But is defective in Corn, and glad to be supplied therewith from Italy, France, or Sicily. Nor are their Cattel large, or many, their Fare being most upon Sallets and Fruits; every Gentleman limited what Flesh he shall buy for himself and Family. Their Language is so near the Latine, that that themſelves call it Romance. They have 15 Univerſities (ſuch as they are). Their Court is kept at Madrid.

Portugal, Is now a diſtinct Kingdom by it ſelf, though antiently but a Province of Spain, its chief City is Lisbon.

8. Of the ISLANDS in the MEDITERRANEAN.

Sicily, Is a large Iſland, in Compaſs 700 miles, not above a mile and an half in one part from Italy, to which anciently, as is ſuppoſed, it was joined. The Soil is incredibly fruitful in VVine, Oil, Honey, Corn, &c. And is reckoned to contain of Inhabitants, near a Million and an half.

Sardinia, In length 180, in breadth 90 miles, yeilds great ſtore of Cattel, and abounds with Corn, It hath 3 Arch-Biſhops, and 15 Biſhops.

Corſica,

Corsica, is but 7 miles distant from Sardinia, just over against Genoa, in length 120 miles, in breadth 70. It produces Oil, Figgs, Raisins, and excellent VVine.

Majorca and Minorca, two Isles about 60 miles from Spain, the first 300, the second a 150 miles in Circuit; and both indifferent fruitful.

Corfu, Cephalenia, and Zant, are three Grecian Islands. The first is 54 miles in length, in breadth 24. The second is in Compass 60 miles; and the third of the same bigness. They have great plenty of Currants and Oil, and enough VVine, and are under the Venetians. Of Candie we spoke before.

19. Of SWEDEN.

Sweden hath on the East Muscovy, on the West the Dofrine Hills; on the North the Frozen Seas; and on the South the Baltick. This Country is little less than Italy and France, put together. The People are good VVar-VVarriors, and live hardly, the Air is ſharp, but ſo ſalubrious, that 'tis ordinary for Men to live above 100 Years. It aboundeth with Lead, Iron, Copper, Tar, Furs, &c. Containing theſe Provinces 1. Lapland, famous for VVitches, the People being generally groſs Idolaters. 2. Finland. 3. Gothland. And 4. That which is properly called Sweden. The chief City is Stockholm, ſituate in the Sea like Venice. Their Religion Lutheranism.

10. Of DENMARK.

Denmark is bounded on the Eaſt with the Baltick Sea, on the Weſt with the German Ocean; on the North it hath Sweden, and Germany on the South. The Air is very cold, but miſty, which ſomewhat mitigates it. The Soil very good for Paſturage, ſo that they have great ſtore of Cattel: But their chief Commodities are Fir, Pitch, Tar, and other Furniture for Shipping, Hides, Tallow, &c. The People are good Souldiers, Thrifty, great Drinkers, feeding hardly on dried Fiſh, Bacon, and Salt-meats. In Religion Lutherans.

Norway

Norway is under the King of Denmark, a place very barren; so that instead of Bread, the People eat dried Fish, which we call Stock-Fish. They Export Furs, Train-Oyl, Clap-Bords, &c.

11. Of POLAND.

Poland is parted from Muscovy on the East with the River Nesper, or Boristhenes, on the West from Germany with the Vistula, on the North it hath the Baltick; on the South Hungary. 'Tis in compass 2600 miles; very fruitful for Barley, and Cattel. The Inhabitants excellent Souldiers, but their King being Elective, they are always so pestered with Factions that they can attempt no great matter, only to defend themselves against the Turks. They are much addicted to the Latin Tongue, and have of all Religions amongst them, though the present King seem most to favour Popery. Their Merchandizes are Amber, Barley, Wax, Honey, Pitch, Tar, &c.

12. Of

12. Of MUSCOVY.

Muscovy is a vaſt Country, 3300 miles long, and 3000 broad, part of it only lying in Europe, the reſt in Aſia. 'Tis bounded on the Eaſt with Tartaria, on the Weſt with Livonia, Lituania, and part of Sweden; on the North with the Frozen Ocean, and on the South with the Caſpian Sea, the Turks, and the Lake called Mœotis. The People are ſhort and thick, broad Bearded, miſerable Slaves to their great Duke, and very Ignorant. The Women love not their Husbands unleſs they beat them. A great part of the Country is very Fruitful, abundance of Honey in every Wood, vaſt Trees, Black Foxes, famous for their Skins, plenty of Roſin, Flax, &c. As to Religion they follow the Greek Church.

Of ASIA.

Asia is a very considerable part of the World, in regard 1. Because man was therein created. 2*ly*. Here our Blessed Saviour was born, wrought his Miracles, and suffered. 3*ly*. Here were transacted the most memorable occurrences mentioned in the old and new Testament. 'Tis accounted in length 5200, and in Breadth 4560 miles: the principal Regions therein follow.

1. TURKEY in ASIA.

The Turk by his puissance having overrun a great share of two of the most considerable parts of the world, possesseth in Asia, these Countries, viz.

1. Anatolia, vulgarly Natolia, and antiently Asia the Less; a Country once of great fertility, but now waste and almost desolate: here were the seven Churches to whom John the Divine directs his Book of Revelations, Ephesus, Smirna, &c.

2. Syria and Phœnicia, two adjoining Provinces, wherein is the Mount Libanus, famous in Scripture for goodly Cedars: the Cities Damascus, Antioch, Tyre and Sidon; and those now more renowned for commerce, Aleppo and Scanderoon. The Country abounds with Wheat, Oyl, Balm, &c.

3. Palestine, Canaan, in length but 200 miles, and in breadth not above 50; yet so fruitful, that we read in Holy Writ, it once sustain'd thirteen hundred thousand fighting men (besides the Tribes of Levi and Benjamin, but now 'tis nothing so plentiful, verifying that Divine saying, The Lord maketh a fruitful Land barren for the Iniquities of those that dwell therein. 'Tis now under the Turk, inhabited by mixt people pretending to Christianity, and shewing diverse of the places mentioned in Scripture to Strangers for Money.

4. Caldæa in which stood Babylon, now called Bagdet, where happen'd the Confusion of Languages after the Flood.

5. Mesopotamia, lying between the Rivers Tigris and Euphrates, the Soil exceeding fertile, so that by some 'tis thought to have been the place where stood the Garden of Eden.

6. Tur-

6. Turcomania, heretofore called Armenia the greater, but now takes name from the Turks, who being a people of Scythia, and too populous to get ſufficient food in ſo barren a Country, broke through the Caſpian Streight, and ſeated themſelves here in the year 844.

Laſtly, Georgia, not ſo call'd from St. George, whom yet here they greatly reverence; but from the Georgi who long agoe inhabited the adjacent Countries. The people now though Tributaries to the Turk, profeſs Chriſtianity, and agree in moſt points with the Greek Church.

2. Of PERSIA.

Perſia is bounded on the Eaſt with the River Indus, Weſt with Tigris and the Perſian Gulf, North with the Caſpian Sea, and South with the main Ocean. The People are of a proper ſtature, an Olive-colour, their Garments Calicue, in Religion Mahumetans, but enemies to the Turks, as being of different ſects and judgments in expounding the Alchoran, whence bloody wars are oft between them. Their Emperor is called the Sophy of Perſia, who rules very tyrannically, and has many Provinces and petty Kings that are his Tributaries.

This is that Country so renowned of old for its riches and power, for trampling on the Assyrian Monarchy; they set up here the second great Empire, which at last was destroyed by Alexander the Great. Here reigned those mighty Princes Cyrus, Cambyses, Darius, the great Xerxes, Artaxerxes and others famous both in the sacred Scriptures and profane Histories.

From hence are brought several sorts of Silk; the chief Port where we have trade with them was Ormus, in the Gulf of Persia; and since Gombroon about nine miles distant from thence. The greatest Cities in the whole Empire are Spahawn supposed to contain 300000 souls; Sushan where Ahasuerus made his Feast, mentioned 1. Esther; Caramania, famous for Cloth of Gold, and the best Scimitars in the world; with several others.

3. The great TARTARY.

Part of this Country extends to Europe, but the main lies in Asia, reaching from East to West 5400 miles, and from North to South 3600, 3600, being called of old Scythia, and bounded on the East with the Eastern Ocean, on the West with Muscovia and Moldavia, on the North with the frozen Ocean, on the South with the Caspian Sea, Persia, and the Wall of China.

The people are of a swarthy Complexion, deformed and barbarous in behaviour; and as for their Religion, most of them Pagans, the rest Mahumetans: many of them dwell in Tents, which as pasture grows scarce for their Cattel, do remove to new Quarters. They sow little Corn, for Horse-flesh is their chief food; yet they have some great Cities, as Astracan, Casan, Cambalu, and Samarchand, that gave both a Cradle and a Grave to mighty Tamberlain. The Governour of this vast country is call'd the great Cham, who rules by an absolute arbitrary power, being stiled by his people, The shadow of Spirits, and Son of the immortal Gods.

4. The Empire of the Great Mogul.

This mighty Empire lies in India, partly within and partly without the River Ganges, so call'd as being descended from the Mogul-Tartars; and indeed within these 100 years laſt paſt, this Monarch taking the advantage of his Neighbours Diſſentions, hath forced ſeveral flouriſhing Kingdoms to become Tributaries to his Sceptre: in his Territories ſtands Surat, to which our Eaſt-India Fleet frequently traffiques. Here is likewiſe the populous Kingdom of Cambaia containing as is thought no leſs than ſixty thouſand Villages, beſides the Metropolitan City, ſtock'd with eight hundred thouſand ſouls. As alſo the Kingdom of Bengala famous for Rhinocerots, and Stuffs, much in uſe for morning Gowns; this Emperor ſays Boterus, is able to bring into the Field at once three hundred thouſand Horſe, and ſo reverenc'd by his Subjects, that they ſtrew the ways he is to paſs with richeſt perfumes; and whenever he cuts his Hair or ſhaves his Beard, keep that day as a Feſtival.

5. Of the PENINSULA, or Traſt of Land running out into the Sea without the GANGES, and all the other parts of INDIA.

Ganges is one of the moſt famous Rivers in the world, which divides India commonly called the Eaſt Indies into two parts, of which one is ſaid to be within, the other without without the Ganges; but we here for greater plainneſs divide the whole into three parts. 1. The Neck of Land towards the Sea without Ganges. 2*ly*, The main Land within Ganges, and another Tract of Land within Ganges likewiſe, but ſtretching out into the Sea.

Theſe three parts are inhabited by five ſeveral ſorts of people in general, viz. 1. Indians or Natives which are in part Gentiles, in part Chriſtians; the ſecond ſort are Mahumetans, Perſians and Tartars; the third Jews; the fourth Arabians or Moors, and the fifth Portuguez.

In the Neck of Land towards the Sea without Ganges, is the Kingdom of Narſinga, where the people uſe to burn the Living Wife with the Dead Husband, becauſe of the trick they had got to poiſon their Husbands before this Law. Here is likewiſe the City Calecute very large, but not walled nor fair built: the City of St. Thomas or Malleaper, where they ſay St Thomas was Martyr'd, to whoſe Sepulchre the Chriſtian Indians come in Pilgrimage. The Soil in theſe parts is exceeding fruitful, yielding Corn, Spices, Coco's, Jacero's, ſtore of Elephants, Silk, Cotton and ſuch like: in some places of this Countrey in Cambaia, the People take a great pride to colour their Teeth black, as well they say because that is most beautiful, as also because they may differ from Dogs, whose teeth are white.

In the Kingdom of Brama is the Royal City of Pegu, distant twenty five miles from the Sea; the King liveth in great Riches and Magnificence, and always keeps four Elephants, three Milk White and one Black; all which he divinely worships.

Cauchin is situate between the River Cantan and the Kingdom of Siam; it abounds with Gold, Silver, Aloes, and especially Porcelane, where our China-Dishes are made.

To several parts of this India our English Company which thence takes their name, doth yearly traffique, & make good returns.

Of ARABIA.

Arabia is three-fold. 1. The Desart, called so from the barrenness of the Soil; 2. The Stony, and 3. The Happy: the last being the most pleasant Countrey in Asia, abounding with Gold, Pearl, Balsamum, Myrrh, Frankincense, and all kind of Spices, wherein the wondrous Phœnix is supposed to build her Nest.

Neſt. The People are ſwift of foot, and for the moſt part live in Tents; the whole is 4000 miles in compaſs.

Of CHINA.

China hath on the Eaſt, Mare del zur, on the North, a wall of 1000 miles long to keep them from the Tartars, which yet proved too weak a Fenſe, for in the fatal year 1648, they were over-run by that barbarous Nation.

Theſe Chinoes are ingenious and excellent at Handicrafts, they pretend to Guns and Printing long before us and uſe to boaſt that themſelves have two eyes, the Europeans one, and all the reſt of the world none. The Country is of wonderful bigneſs, almoſt as large as all Europe, the Air temperate, the Soil pleaſant and abounding with Barley, Rice, Wool, Cotton, Olives, Wines, Flax, Silk, Metals, &c. and the Land ſo plain that 'tis ſaid, they drive their Coaches and Carts commonly with Sails. 'Tis divided into fifteen Provinces; the whole Region contains 'tis ſaid 70 Millions of People, the probability of which, ſee juſtified in Heylin's Coſmography.

Of the Islands of ASIA, which are

1. Japan in length 600 miles, much of the nature of China, but the people more superstitious, and in opposition to the Chinoes put off their Shoes in saluting, because the others pull off their Hats.

2. The Molucco's five in number whence come most of our Cloves.

3. Java in compass 3000 miles, for its fruitfulness abounds with Spices, here is Bantam a Port much frequented by the English.

4 Sumatra the greatest of the Eastern Islands, almost 700 miles long and 200 broad; their Riches consists in Pepper, Benzoin, Cassia, Silk, &c.

5. The Phillippine Islands many in number, now in possession of the Spaniard.

Of AFRICA.

Africa is a Peninsula almost circled in round with the Red Sea, on the East, the Atlantick Ocean, on the West, the Southern Ocean towards the South, and the Mediterranean on the North; only there is a small ſmall Iſthmus (or neck of Land) not above 60 miles over, that joins it to Aſia: the breadth near 2000, the length above 4000 miles.' Tis not very fruitful nor populous except in Monſters and Wild Beaſts, whereof there it too great plenty, as Lions, Leopards, Crocodiles, &c.

'Tis divided into ſeveral Regions as follow.

Of BARBARY.

Barbary hath on the Weſt the Atlantick Ocean, and on the North the Mediterranean, containing the Kingdoms of Tunis, Algiers, Fez and Morocco; their fruits are Figs, Olives, &c. and excellent Horſes: the men are of a duskiſh colour, well proportion'd, ſtately in their gate, Laborious, but treacherous, the Women ſumptuous in Jewels, and even beautiful in blackneſs, by reaſon of the delicate ſoftneſs of their skins. In Tunis is the City Hippo of which St. Auguſtin was Biſhop; as alſo Tripoly, ſo called, as having three Cities under its juriſdiction.

Tunis is a great City, containing 10000 Families. Algier is ſubject to the Turk in ſome reſpect, and yet is a kind of Republique of it ſelf, living wholly by Piracy; it is very nobly nobly built, and contains about 4000 Houſholds.

Fez extends from Azamor to Tangier now in poſſeſſion of the Engliſh, and by the help of the Mole, which at vaſt charge has there been made, it may in time become an excellent harbour for ſhipping.

The City Fez is great and incomparably ſituated, the Buildings ſtately to admiration, their Roofs adorned with Gold, &c. and has above 700 Moſches or Temples.

Of NUMIDIA and LYBIA.

To go into Numidia, we muſt paſs over Mount Atlas, an Hill ſo high that its top cannot be ſeen; whence the Fable, that Atlas ſuſtained the Heavens on his ſhoulders. The people have no ſetled place of dwelling, only ſtay ſo long as Graſs will ſerve for their Camels, and then remove to a new place.

Lybia joins to Numidia, and is ſo much a Deſart, that a man may travel eight days without finding water, ſo that Travellers muſt carry it with them or periſh.

Of the Land of NEGRO's.

This is call'd ſo from the River Niger, or rather rather from the black colour of the Inhabitants; it hath on the East the upper Ethiopia, on the West, the Atlantick Ocean. The people are ſtupidly Ignorant, and groſs Idolaters, yet have ſtore of Gold and Silver very fine and pure.

Of the Upper ETHIOPIA, or the Kingdom of PRESTER JOHN.

The upper Ethiopia is govern'd by a mighty Prince commonly called Preſbor (or more properly Presbyter) John, it begins at the entrance into the Red-ſea, and contains in compaſs above 4000 miles; they have plenty of Riſe, Barley, Peaſe and Beans, Salt is their moſt currant money. Their woods are full of Baſil and other odoriferous Plants, they pretend to Chriſtianity, to which they ſay they were converted by the Queen Candaces Eunuch, mentioned in the Acts of the Apoſtles to be baptized by Philip, and that the Queen of Sheba that went to hear the wiſdom of Solomon was of their Countrey, and that ſhe had a Son by him who ſtole away the Ark of the Covenant, which they have yet to ſhew, &c. The Perſon of this Emperor is very much honoured by the vulgar, to whom he

ſheweth himſelf but thrice a year, viz. at Chriſtmaſs, Eaſter and Holy-rood.

Of EGYPT.

This Kingdom reaches Eaſtward to the Arabian Deſarts, and North to the Egyptian Sea, being part of the Mediterranean; 'tis in length about 560 miles, in breadth not above 140, and has no convenient Haven but that of Alexandria.

This was antiently the Granary of the world, and ſtill yields plenty of Sugar, Flax, Rice, all ſorts of Grain, Fine Linnen, Salt, Caſſia, &c. This wondrous fertility proceeds from the famous River Nilus, which from the 15*th* of June, overflows all the Country for the ſpace of forty days, and then drains up its Waters again: during which Inundation, they ſecure their Cattel on Hills and Villages, which are all built on the higheſt ground, and in the mean time Boats ſupply the places of Horſes and Camels for commerce.

The chief City is Alexandria, a free Port, heretofore much more eminent for Trade than now.

There is likewiſe Grand Cairo, a City of

a marvellous ſtrength, eight miles in com-paſs. and very populous; 'tis the greateſt Market for Sattins, Damasks and Taffeta's in the world, but the main Commodities, as precious Stones, Spices, Indian Stuffs, Gums, Perfumes, Amber, &c. are brought hither overland by Caravans. Four miles from hence are the ruins of thoſe Pyramids which Antiquity celebrated as one of the worlds wonders.

The Red-ſea waſhing this Country on the Eaſt, is ſo called from the colour of its Sand, and is in length 1600 miles. The old Cities Thebes and Memphis are now known only in their ruins; the Turks are Lords here, and the People generally Slaves and treacherous.

To this Country the world owes a great part of myſterious Learning, or rather is bound to blame them for ſpoiling natural Philoſophy with a mixture of ridiculous Magick and ſuperſtitious vanities; whence our Vagabond Fortune-tellers to this day take upon themſelves the Title of Egyptians or Gypſies. Their Prieſts of old were wont to expreſs their meaning in Hieroglyphicks or odd Pictures. The People received the Goſpel from St. Mark, which they generally retain-retained till the coming in of the Saracens, and then embraced Mahumatiſm, which yet continues; only thoſe that ſtill remain Chriſtians, ſuppoſed to be no leſs than 90000, are call'd Cophti becauſe they uſe Circumciſion. They obſerve not the Lords day, nor any other Feſtival, but only in the Cities: they embrace and read in their Liturgies a Goſpel written (as they ſay) by Nicodemus.

The AFRICAN ISLES.

Are either in the Ethiopick or Atlantick Sea; in the firſt is, Madagaſcar otherwiſe called the Land of St. Laurence, abounding with all manner of Fruits and Beaſts Wild or Tame. 'Tis in length 1200 miles, ſituate under the Southern Tropick. The People are rude, ſavage and treacherous; their Commodities are Cloves, Ginger and Silver.

Zocotara, is an Iſle lying juſt at the mouth of the Red-ſea, 60 miles in length, and 24 in breadth, rich in Aloes, Gums and Spices.

In the Atlantick are St. Thomas, an Iſland 180 miles about, lying directly under the Equinoctial, very plentiful for Sugar.

Princes Iſland is ſituate between the Equator and the Tropick of Capricorn; 'tis called ſo, ſo, becauſe when the Portugals firſt conquered it, the retenues were alotted to the Portugal Prince.

The Gorgades are nine Iſlands ſituate nigh Cape viride, in the Land of Negro's, abounding in Goats, and now uſually called the Iſlands of Cape Verde.

The Canary-Iſles are in number ſeven, antiently for their fertility called the Fortunate Iſlands; hence come our Canary Wines, as alſo the little rare ſinging Birds called by that name. The Grand Canary excells the reſt in greatneſs and excellency, for thither all the others repair for juſtice. But Tenariffe exceeds in ſituation and fame, as being ſuppoſed to be the higheſt Land in the world, the Mountain being fifteen miles high; from whence in all Maps and Charts that I have publiſhed to the world, I have placed the firſt Meridian, and from thence Eaſtward do reckon the Longitude.

The Azores are in number nine, of which Tercera being the greateſt, doth now give name to all the reſt; it is but eighteen miles in compaſs and abounds in Oad. The ſecond Iſle of note, is St. Michael.

Of

Of the 4th part of the world called AMERICA.

America, firſt found out by Chriſtopher Columbus a Genoeſe about the year 1486. But takes its name from one Americus Veſputius, who ſome time afterwards made a further and more full diſcovery thereof.

This large Region is very plentiful in Fruits and ſundry Creatures that the other parts of the world never knew; as alſo in Mines but eſpecially Silver, of which the Spaniards at their firſt coming thither, found incredible quantities, and ſtill ſupply Europe with that every year with their Plate Fleet. The Inhabitants are of a complexion ſwarthy. Theſe People are ſuppoſed to be the progeny of the Tartars, with whoſe groſs manners and ignorance they nearly agree, as alſo in complexion; or elſe of the ten Tribes carried away by Salmanaſer.

America is divided by a certain Iſthmus or narrow Neck of Land at Darien into two parts, the one Northern called Mexicana, the other Southern or Peruana.

Of

Of the Engliſh Empire in AMERICA.

Of that part of America called Mexicana, the greateſt, or at leaſt the beſt part pays obedience to the Engliſh Sceptre. As

1. New-England, a very populous and thriving Colony. This Plantation was firſt ſetled in the year 1623, the people are famous for the ſtrictneſs of their diſcipline and living, eminent Merchants, and of great commerce in many parts of the world. They coin money of their own, and keep Printing Preſſes at Boſton, which is the chief Town of the Countrey, which is on the main land; the furtheſt part of the Plantations, being bounded with vaſt Woods, ſo that the utmoſt extent of the whole is not certainly known.

Virginia, ſo called in honour to Queen Elizabeth our matchleſs Virgin Queen in whoſe days it was diſcovered, is ſituate on the ſame Continent, but more Southerly; its Weſtern Limits are unknown, but on the North it has Mary-land, and upon the South Carolina. 'Tis very populous, and almoſt incredible to think what vaſt quantities of Tobacco is yearly brought from theſe Colonies to England, to the happy livelihood of many ny thousand Families that deal in it.

Newfound-land, noted for the plenty of Fish we have from thence, lying on the South of Davis's Streights.

Mary-land, New-York, and New-Jersey, are new Plantations lying between New-England and Virginia. And there is lately added another Plantation called Pensilvania granted by Patent from his Majesty to William Pen, Son to Sir William Pen one of our Late Admirals at Sea, to him and his Heirs for ever. Whose situation is at the head of the Bay of Chesopeack, from 40 to 43 degrees of Latitude, and five degrees of Longitude to the West.

Of MEXICO or NEW-SPAIN.

Mexico, otherwise called New-Spain, whence his Catholick Majesty intitles himself Hispaniarum Rex. Is bounded on the East without California, on the South Peruana, but its Northern limits are unknown; so that we cannot certainly say, whether this America be a Coutinent or an Island distinguisht by Sea from Asia. Here are abundance of Golden-sanded Rivers, store of Mines, Mulberry-trees, Silk, Honey, Black Amber, &c.

It

It was exceeding populous before the arrival of the Spaniards, who in seventeen years, as Historians tell us, slew six millions of them, rendring the name of Christianity which they pretended to teach them, odious to these poor Heathen by their cruelties.

The City Mexico is the seat of an Archbishop and the Spanish Vice-Roy, 'tis in compass six miles, and contains 600 Houses of Spaniards, and as many of Indians: there is an University, a Printing-house and Mint; the People are witty and industrious, good handy-crafts-men, and Rich Merchants.

Yucutan is 900 miles in circuit, being a Peninsula situate over against the Isle Cuba; the chief City is Guatimala, over against which lies the Island of Santa Cruze.

Of PERUANA.

Peruana, the other or Southern part of America, contains Castella Aurea, Guiana, Peru, Brasile and Chile, 'tis in compass 17000 miles, and consequently bigger than the other which is computed but 13000. It contains several Provinces, as

1. Castella

1. Castella Aurea, so called from its abundance of Gold, is admirably stored with Mines, Spices, Pearls and Medicinal Herbs.

2. Castella del oro, in which is Nombre de dios and Panama, two Towns through which passes all the Traffick between Spain and Peru, for whatever comes from Peru, is unladen at Panama, carried by Land to Nombre de dios, and there shipt for Spain, and so on the contrary for what is to go to Peru.

3. New Granada, situate on the South side, a Country very strong by its natural Fortifications of vast stony Rocks, yet it has many delicate Vallies which yield much Fruit, and some Mines of Gold and Silver, but not in any great quantity.

Cartagena, hath a fruitful Soil and great Riches, the Metropolis hereof Sir Francis Drake surprized in the year 1585; and besides ineltimable Summs of Money and Plate, took away with him from thence 240 pieces of Ordnance.

Guiana hath on the East and South the vast River of Amazons, and on the North the great River Orenoque, navigable with Ships of Burthen 1000 miles together, and with Boats Boats and ſmall Pinaces almoſt 2000. Yet that of the Amazons is greater ſtill, being navigable 6000 miles, and towards the Sea is ſaid to be 200 miles broad; this Country is ſituate under the Equinox, and the People in the winter dwell in Trees, for fear of being drown'd in the uſual exceſſive Floods occaſion'd by the frequent Rains.

Peru hath on the Eaſt, the Mountains, on the Weſt Del Zur, or the Pacifique Sea, ſo call'd becauſe it has no Flux or Reflux; the Soil is luxuriant in all manner of Grain, Fortunate in the civility of its Inhabitants, frequency of Cities and ſalubrity of Air; aboundant in Gold and Silver above any other in America. The chief Cities are Saint Michaels, and Arequipa, ſituate on the River of Plate, which is 200 miles long and 150 miles broad at the Mouth; the King of this Countrey named Atabalipa, being overcome by the Spaniards, gave them for his ranſome an Houſe piled up full on all ſides with refined Gold and Silver, being in eſtimation above ten Millions; which when they had received, they moſt perfidiouſly ſlew him.

And here I would mind the Reader, and for the honour of our English Nation, that several of our Nation hath past and repast the Straights of Magelan into the South Sea, or Mare Pacificum. 1. Sir Francis Drake, and in the year 1669. Sir John Narborough went thither with two Ships, the one called the Sweepstakes, and the other the Bachelor, Captain, Humphrey Flemming; both which Ships proceeded till they came near the Straights of Magelan, not far from Rio St. Julian (which was the appointed place of meeting) near which place, they lost one another; whereupon the latter returned home, and the other proceeded on her Voyage in the South Sea as far as Baldivia, and from thence returned safe to England, in the year 1681. Some of our English men under the command of our Captain Sharp and Captain Ringrose, after great exploits against the Spaniards by Land, entred the South Sea, and took some of their ships; and in one of them returned home with considerable riches, and came about Terra del fuego, and went so far Southerly, as far as sixty degrees South Latitude, and so came to England.
